

Serving students at Scale

Our graduating students, by the numbers

"I had debilitating math anxiety and I didn't think that I was smart enough to be in school so I dropped out of high school in the 11th grade — a decision that relegated me to a life of mediocrity. I went from low-paying job to low-paying job and I become the quintessential jack-of-all-trades and master of none."

"If there's anything I've learned, it's that there's not a Google map for life. We navigate as best we can and if we get re-routed, we don't just pull over. We turn on those hazard lights and we keep going . . . and we keep going . . . and we keep going."

– Arteja S.
Master of Business Administration
